Firebug Hunted

Decoto Warehouse Fire, Big Loss

Salz Hay Storage Destroyed

Sheriff's deputies are investigating the blaze that gutted a huge hay warehouse at Decoto Sunday night with loss estimated at $50,000.

The fire, first reported at 8:42 p.m., destroyed the C. F. Salz Company building at Railroad Avenue and H Street.

Fire Chief Roland Bendel, who led 20 volunteer firemen in a 10-hour battle against the stubborn conflagration, said he believed it to have been set. Bendel said he bases this belief on two other recent fires in neighborhood warehouses.

The hay was still smoldering last night, necessitating a constant watch to keep fire from spreading to the adjoining feed mill and office.

Bendel said the two preceding fires were in the Marlo Packing shed, one block away, and were extinguished by his men on Wednesday night and again Friday before more than nominal damage resulted.

A few weeks ago, intruders set a blaze in the Alaco Packing Co. offices, across the railroad tracks from Salz, and next to Marlo, but this fire was put out by alert deputy sheriffs.

Owners of the warehouse are Mrs. Ida Silva and Manuel Muniz. Muniz denied the possibility of spontaneous combustion, saying no green hay was stored in the building. He added there was no electric wiring to cause a short-circuit, and said that nobody from the firm had been in the warehouse since Friday. The building and contents reportedly were insured.

It was Decoto's worst fire since the Catholic Church burned just one year ago.

Chief Bendel said from the nature of the two fires at Marlo, they appeared "definitely to have been set," and added that he believes the same firebug may be responsible for the Salz conflagration.

TRUCK BURNS

A furniture truck, owned by C. W. Chrysler of Niles, was completely destroyed last Saturday when the driver, an employee of Chrysler's, accidentally backed it into burning trash at the dump at the foot of Third Street. Chrysler this week was negotiating for a new truck.

Mrs. Chester E. Stanley, wife of Southern Alameda County's supervisor, suffered a heart attack in her doctor's office Tuesday, is confined in an oxygen tent in St. Paul's Hospital, Livermore.

INCORPORATION OR INDIVIDUALITY?

County planners this week denied they want to keep the Township split into its present eight communities, but hinted the separate towns have some advantages at that.

Replying to a query from the Centerville Chamber of Commerce, Planning Director John Jay Thomas said the planning commission staff "shares" the Centerville chamber's view "that a strong central Township organization be encouraged."

However, Thomas added, advantages of community spirit may be lost in a larger city.

The chamber had asked if retaining individual towns as opposed to Township-wide cityhood was an official commission policy, in view of recent statements by Thomas and his staff.

COUNTY CONFIRMS SMOG DUE TO POOR SEWAGE PROCESS

The smelly, paint-spotting smog that blanketed Washington Township last September probably was caused by untreated sewage, a report from Alameda County Health Director James C. Malcolm said Monday.

The smog produced a "rotten egg" odor, and discolored paint on homes in Newark and Centerville. Said Dr. Malcolm:

"High temperatures and humidities helped increase the production of hydrogen sulphide and the chemical reaction of this gas on painted surfaces." He continued: "Some of the sewage plants in this area have effluents producing hydrogen sulphide."

The doctor suggested improved sewage treatment as a remedy.

Dissolve Township Chamber, Start Anew, Says Niles

Businessmen of Niles voted Tuesday to dissolve the Washington Township Chamber of Commerce in favor of some sort of "more representative" organization for "all the people" of booming Southern Alameda County.

The vote came at a luncheon of the Niles Chamber, one of the eight community groups which compose the Township Chamber.

The Township Chamber recently has been discussing reorganization and C. W. Chrysler, president of the Niles group, is a member of the Township committee named to study the proposals.

Chrysler pointed out many people "are dissatisfied" with the Township Chamber of Commerce, and asked what the Niles luncheers felt ought to be done with some $1200 in dues the eight towns have paid into the central treasury.

After some discussion, Howard Mitchell, orchardist and lumberman, proposed:

"I move that our delegates recommend dissolution of the Township Chamber, that funds be returned (to the town chambers), and that when the new organization is perfected (by the committee), that we then take action on it."

The motion passed without dissent.

Chrysler said his committee, which is headed by Gus Robertson of Irvington, is considering "some sort of plan" to take the central chamber away from strict control by the eight local towns. He said it possibly will ask that delegates be picked from industry, labor and farmers, service clubs and veterans' organizations, rather than just from the "town chambers," as at present.

No reorganization plan has crystallized yet, Chrysler said. Another meeting of the Robertson committee is slated for Monday night. It is slated to bring a recommendation to the Township Chamber November 23.

Judge E. A. Quaresma spoke in favor of a wider membership, saying "the new people may help us get away from the petty selfishness of the past."

BAINE-BLACOW TRAFFIC DOESN'T WARRANT STOP SIGNS, COUNTY SAYS

A county traffic engineer this week recommended against stop signs at the intersection of Baine and Blacow Avenues, southwest of Centerville, and his reasons made interesting listening for the local chamber of commerce.

Douglas Carmody was appearing at the chamber's request, since the group had asked for the signs following a pair of accidents had asked for the signs following a pair of accidents there. Said he:

"I'm recommending we install 20-mile-an-hour speed limit signs there instead of stop signs. Of the only two accidents that have occurred at Baine and Blacow in the past three years, one was caused by a driver who was cited for not wearing his glasses, and the other I just can't understand—a man hit a woman at the intersection although there was ample visibility in all directions."

Carmody said there isn't enough traffic at the intersection to warrant stop signs. He said an average of 575 cars a day go down Baine, and that 800 use Blacow.

"One day, for six hours, there wasn't a car at all," he advised.

Carmody said county policy probably should discourage through traffic on narrow Baine and on residential Blacow.

Other observations:

1. Most accidents in Decoto in the past three years have been caused by hedges and fences which block vision. Through local cooperation, the county hopes to remedy this hazard.

2. Seven collisions in recent months at Baine and Cherry, Newark, have brought installation of stop signs. However, "there was no reason for any of them: each driver simply thought the other would stop, and he didn't."

STEEL MILL STILL SHUT IN DISPUTE

A work stoppage which has idled the big Pacific States Steel mill at Niles went into its tenth day today, but CIO Steelworkers said they have resumed negotiations with management.

Leon Curtis, president of Local 3367, USWA, said he and his negotiating committee have met with E. C. Thomas, plant manager, twice since Monday, and that another meeting is slated for today.

More than 450 men have been off the job since October 26, when union members went into "a continuous meeting" over layoffs proposed by management.

NATIVITY SCENE FOR IRVINGTON?

A lifesized statuary group representing the Nativity will be placed in Bay Street Park, Irvington, each Christmas holiday season if plans of the local chamber of commerce materialize.

Wallace Pond, chamber prexy, suggested the tableau Tuesday at the businessmen's luncheon, said it would be unique in this area.

Pond said he thought the money to build the statues, estimated at $500, might be raised by public subscription.

He referred the project to a committee headed by Walter Connolly to determine its feasibility.

Six-Hour Operation May Save Niles Boy Wounded in Hunting Mishap

John Lee Perniz, 10, of Niles, today was given an even chance to live following a hunting accident Saturday near Fairfield in which he accidentally discharged a shotgun into his abdomen.

Young Perniz was hunting ducks with his father, John S. Perniz, 1006 Duarte Avenue, when, according to sheriff's reports, he stood up and dropped the light gun to the deck of their rowboat, where it discharged into his stomach.

The wounded boy sank to the bottom of the boat, and his father and another occupant of the skiff, Wayne Stultz, of Oakland, hailed a passing boat and took John to a landing where he was given first aid by Dr. John Spencer of San Francisco, who chanced to be hunting nearby.

With four other physicians assisting, Dr. Buhl performed an operation on John which lasted for six hours. Sheriff's deputies cooperated in rushing a total of eight pints of blood to the scene for transfusions. The wounded lad also received two pints of plasma.

Dr. Peter Gauder, now in charge of the case, said the swift treatments and transfusions increased John's chances of survival "from 10-to-1 to an even chance."

Mr. and Mrs. Perniz have been at John's bedside almost continually since the accident.

Petty Theft Charged

Floyd Seymour, 29, Newark janitorial-serviceman, was arrested Sunday night and charged with stealing articles from parked cars at the International Kitchen.

Seymour was nabbed by deputies after his car overturned at Shinn Corners, near the restaurant, and the allegedly stolen items were found at the scene. He is free on $1500 bail.

Record Turnout, Glittering Prizes Feature Successful Cooking School

More than 300 Township housewives and their families attended the gala cooking school sponsored by local appliance dealers last week and pronounced it an unqualified success.

Held in the Washington Hi auditorium, the school attracted no less than 87 entries in what observers said was the biggest and best cake-baking contest ever held here.

Nine winners were announced by the local dealers, who were aided by cooking-and-freezing experts sent by the PG&E, and by the Northern California Electrical Bureau and the Gas Appliance Association of California.

Both Wednesday and Thursday night sessions were unusually well attended, according to Esther Day and Ann Cook, home economists, who conducted the schools.

Winner of the top cake-baking prize, a Sunbeam Mixmaster, was Mrs. Carolyn Brown of 149 Joseph Street, Centerville. Her entry was a fluffy marble chiffon cake that caught both the judges' eyes and taste. Mrs. Brown's husband, John F. Brown Jr., agreed thoroughly. Mrs. Brown gets plenty of practice baking—she works for the Irvington School cafeteria.

In a special teen-age class, 16-year-old Beverley Spurlock of 2045 Smith Street, Alvarado, won a Hamilton-Beach Mixette with her delicious devil's-food cake. Beverly denied ambitions to catch a beau with her culinary talents, explained her father, Howard, generally eats half her cakes.

Winner of the coveted grand door-prize, a $379 deluxe model gas range, was Mrs. Rose Escobar of Prune Avenue, Warm Springs. Mrs. Escobar, whose winning ticket was drawn Thursday night, chose a Wedgewood range, which will be delivered by Walter Connolly. Mrs. Escobar said she picked the Wedgewood, which was made in Newark, because she has used one for the past five years, and likes its performance.

Other winners included Diane Caldeira, 2702 Thornton Avenue, Newark, who won a Nesco roaster and cabinet; and Mrs. Louise Quadros of Newark, who was awarded a Mixmaster.

SAFETY COUNCIL AT SCHOOL URGED

At an address to the speech class taught by Ronald Lambert at Washington Union High School, Sam C. Arnold, Newark insurance man, told of the reasons for the high insurance rates that must be paid by young drivers.

Arnold suggested the students form a safety council, as is being done in high schools in other cities. Under this plan, the young driver who maintains a safety record for a certain length of time is entitled to a lower insurance rate.

The plan is endorsed by the National Safety Council and insurance companies.

Berkeley Freeway Plans Go Forward; To Open Bids for New 3-Mile Strip

Director of Public Works Frank B. Burke has authorized the Division of Highways to advertise for bids on reconstructing three miles of the Eastshore Freeway between Ashby Avenue in Berkeley and the El Cerrito Overhead.

The new project, which will be one of the biggest single highway contracts ever let by the State, will involve removal by dredging of some 740,000 cubic yards of bay mud and placing approximately 2,000,000 cubic yards of fill so that the present six-lane highway can be expanded to a divided, eight-lane freeway with a 16-foot median strip.

In addition to grading and paving the freeway, the contract will also call for construction of a traffic interchange at Ashby Avenue and an overcrossing to carry Bay Street traffic across Ashby.

The work will be financed by a $5,500,000 allocation in the revised State budget for the 1953-54 fiscal year and will be completed sometime in 1955.

Available funds do not permit complete improvement of this section of the Eastshore to full freeway standards at this time, Durkee said. The present construction project proposes complete freeway development from south of Ashby Avenue to south of University Avenue, and grading north to beyond Gilman Street.

Subsequent projects planned for succeeding fiscal years will complete the freeway development by providing separate crossings at University Avenue and Gilman Street, and the paving north of University Avenue.

Improvement of the Eastshore to full freeway standards from the end of the Distribution Structure to south of Ashby Avenue is already under contract and is scheduled for completion early in 1954.

Another project for additions to the Distribution tructure itself, covered by a $5,600,000 allocation in the revised 1953-54 highway budget, is scheduled to be advertised for bids about the first of next year.

HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS

BUY MEAT WISELY FOR SMALL FAMILY

by the General Electric Consumers Institute

If you have a small family, you probably don't buy roasts, except for special occasions. Usually there's too much left over, and the family tires of it before it's all gone.

But have you thought of buying one large cut, such as a leg of lamb, and having it cut into different pieces? Each cut requires a different cooking method, says the General Electric Consumers Institute, and furnishes a completely different meal.

The next time leg of lamb is the "weekend special", ask your butcher to remove the shank end and several good-sized lamb steaks (about 1-inch thick) from the upper part of the leg. You can roast the remaining middle section for Sunday dinner, and there will be little or no left-over cooked meat.

Use Steaks and Shank Later

Wrapped in heavy waxed paper, the lamb steaks and shank can be stored in your refrigerator for three or four days. For longer storage periods, they should be wrapped in moisture-vaporproof freezing material and placed in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator where they will stay market-fresh up to two weeks. And if you have a refrigerator-food freezer combination, they may be kept frozen for many months.

The shank end of the lamb can be boned and combined with onions, carrots, potatoes and spices to make your favorite lamb stew or meat pie. And the tender steaks can be broiled and will taste so good that you'll be proud to have the boss stay for dinner.

Here's how to broil the steaks:

Lamb Steak Broil

Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute

2 1-inch leg of lamb steaks (about 8 ounces each)
¼ cup salad oil
¼ cup finely crushed cereal flakes
2 teaspoons finely grated Parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon salt
8 cooked small whole carrots
8 pineapple chunks, well drained
8 green minted cherries

Wipe steaks with damp cloth, and score fat at 1-inch intervals. If the bone in the steak is large or seems to have a large amount of membrane, snip membrane around the bone with scissors to prevent steak from curling during broiling. Place steaks in center of broiler so the top of the steak is 4-4½ inches away from broiler unit. Broil 9 minutes. While steaks are broiling, place salad oil in a small shallow plate. Combine cereal flakes, Parmesan cheese and salt in a deep layer (or similar) pan and mix well. Dip carrots in salad oil; then coat with cereal flakes. When meat has cooked on one side, turn, and place 4 carrots on each end of broiler rack. Drizzle with salad oil and broil 3 minutes. While food is broiling, alternate 2 pineapple chunks and 2 cherries on each of four 2½ to 3-inch skewers. When carrots have broiled 3 minutes, turn, and drizzle with salad oil. Place skewers with fruit on broiler rack, drizzle with salad oil, and broil 3-4 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

A Lamb Steak Broil is economical, if you buy meat wisely. But it's festive enough for a "company" dinner!

Overseas Mail

Deadline date for mailing Christmas packages to men overseas will be November 15, the Navy Department announced today.

Due to the anticipated increase in the volume of mails over previous years, there is no assurance that parcel post mailed from the United States after November 15 will be delivered before the holiday, the announcement said.

As a result of the reduced capabilitis of military airlift, air parcel post to some areas, particularly the Far East, may be diverted at ports of embarkation to surface transportation, the Navy said.

W.U.H.S. STARTS U.S.-AIDED LUNCHES

By DON WOLFE

With the opening of the 1953-54 school year, many new additions can be observed at Washington Union High School. Most notable, of course, are the increased numbers of student and teacher personnel. However, certain changes have also occurred in the operation of the school program. Prominent on this list is the inauguration of a new type of government-subsidized school lunch program.

It was last year's Student Council which recommended the adoption of this plan. Their recommendation followed an investigation of neighboring high schools where the program was already in operation.

According to Mrs. Iilda Nickel, newly-appointed cafeteria supervisor, there is a two-fold purpose in putting this plan into effect. First, it makes it possible to provide an adequate diet at a minimum cost, and second, it provides a means of helping the high school youth develop good dietary habits.

The Federally-supported lunch program offers reimbursement to the schools serving the so-called "Type-A" lunch. Legally this complete hot or cold lunch must consist of the following:

1. One-half pint of whole milk.
2. Two ounces of fresh or processed meat, poultry, or cooked or canned fish or cheese; or one-half cup of peas, beans, or soy beans; or four teaspoons of peanut butter; or one egg.
3. Six ounces of raw, cooked, or canned vegetables and/or fruit.
4. A portion of bread or muffins made of whole grain cereal or enriched flour.
5. Two teaspoons of butter or enriched margarine.

To illustrate how these basic requirements are put into practice, a recent menu included mashed potatoes, gravy and meat, buttered beets, one-half pint of milk, bread and butter, molded salad, and cookies. This is typical of the "Type A" lunch now being served daily to the students at a cost to them of 30 cents. In addition salads, sandwiches, and desserts are still available at 10 cents each, a sum which practically represents their cost.

Federal reimbursement comes at a rate of four cents per Type A lunch plus one cent per extra half-pint of milk sold. Surplus foods, which have been purchased by the Federal government in its farm price support program, are available to the school at little or no cost. Included among the surplus foods are beef, cheese, and powdered milk.

In order to encourage a larger number of students to take advantage of the balanced lunch, meal tickets will be sold for $1.25. This would reduce the daily lunch cost to 25 cents for those students purchasing meal tickets.

Mrs. Nickel, a former hospital dietitian, looks upon this new plan as a marked improvement over the free choice method in reducing lunch costs and improving dietary habits.

U. S. PROGRAM IN PACIFIC 'SUCCESS'

An American experiment is panning out on a shoestring in the 2000 islands of the mid-Pacific, a Livermore man told members of the Niles Rotary Club last week.

Louis Gardella, chief sanitarian for the Trust Territories wrested from Japan during World War II, said some 75 American scientists and government workers based at Truk and other former Japanese strongholds have revolutionized islander living and health habits.

On atolls where leprosy and elephantiasis affect a third of the population, modern cleanup methods have wrought a miracle in survival, Gardella said.

The Livermore sanitation expert has served for the past two years among the natives, living as they do and speaking their language. On a small budget (at least in recent months) much has been done, he said.

"The men with brief cases we saw during the Truman Administration have been dumped," he said. "Now the natives we've trained are doing most of the work."

Agriculture as practiced in the U.S. is not a successful subject among the Micronesians, Gardella commented. He said the islanders have a contempt for money, "except enough to buy a shirt and cigarets."

Americans on Truk pooled their money to send one bright island boy to Honolulu for education, Gardella went on.

He predicted that although the United Nations has nominal jurisdiction over the 2000 islands, "they'll never be able to take them over." Meantime, Gardella said, although the U. S. cannot fortify the mid-Pacific islets, "they give us control of the Pacific, with 2000 unsinkable aircraft carriers."

Gardella left today for another two-year tour on Truk.

With a budget of $24,000 in 1878 San Francisco's public library was enabled to purchase 6000 volumes, rent quarters and appoint a librarian.

Perlite, a glassy volcanic rock, is usually gray-colored although some greenish, black and even brownish perlites are known to exist.

IRVINGTON ZONE MEET ON TUESDAY

A public meeting to discuss rezoning of Irvington and vicinity has been called for next Tuesday night, November 10, in the local grammar school.

The call was issued this week by William Humpert, chairman of the zoning committee of the Irvington Chamber of Commerce.

Humpert said the meeting is the final one before the chamber makes its recommendations to the County Planning Commission to revamp the protective zoning under which Irvington has operated since 1947.

The public conference will be held at 8 o'clock.

Guests A-plenty

Guests of Mrs. Lena Block of George Street are her daughter and husband, T/Sgt. and Mrs. Milford Olson of the Marine Recruiting Depot, San Diego, and their small daughter, Myra. Also visiting Mrs. Block is Mrs. B. R. Jodrell of El Cajon. Mrs. Jordell's husband is connected with the Schipps Institute of Oceanography and is now on a scientific cruise to Japan for the State of California.

ALICE PIERCE DIES

Services will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Berge Mortuary Company, Niles, for Alice E. Pierce, 90, who died November 3 at a Niles rest home where she had lived for the past four years. She was born in Nevada City, and is a former resident of Martinez. Inurnment will be in Chapel of Memories, Oakland.

MANY BIDDERS ON IRVINGTON SCHOOL

Principal Gus Robertson said the 10-classroom addition may be only the start in a $4,000,000 building program if present subdividers' plans materialize.

Bids will be opened November 13. The project will be financed by a $267,000 bond issue voted 17 months ago.

Robertson said almost 6000 tract homes may be built here and that this would mean a minimum of 4800 new pupils, bringing with them the need for "at least one central seventh-and-eighth grade school and eight more kindergarten-through-sixth-grade schools."

Robertson said his district probably will be forced to seek $1,000,000 in State aid and another $250,000 in local bond money within the coming year.

YOUTH HELD

William Reyes, 23, of Hayward, will appear here next week on burglary charges arising out of his alleged attempt to attack a 20-year-old Decoto girl after breaking into her home.

Reyes was traced through a friend who said he let him out of his car near the scene.

STUDENTS HERE

Graduate students from the University of California's department of community planning were in Irvington this week interviewing residents, as part of the college's project to make a "community plan" for further development of the Mission-Irvington area.

MT. VIEW TOUGH, PUPS LOSE, 14-0

The Washington Hi Puppies lost all hopes of capturing the league "B" title last Friday, as they lost to the Mt. View lightweight eleven by a 14-0 margin.

The Junior Huskies now have a 2-2 mark in league play. The Eagle Bs, who hadn't won a game previously, showed a strong offensive as well as an iron defense. Hard-charging Eagle linemen were in the Washington backfield before the Pup scatbacks could get started.

The Puppies hope to get back on the winning trail tomorrow night as they face the Bellarmine Frosh-Soph eleven. Kickoff time is 6.

Mt. View Ends Husky Hopes, 20-7; Locals Face Bellarmine Next

By BOB HIRD

The Washington Huskies were knocked out of title contention last Friday night, when they lost a 20-7 decision to Mountain View.

The Huskies draw a League bye tomorrow night, but face the formidable Bellarmine Bells, at Townsend Field, in Santa Clara.

Friday night's defeat at the hands of the previous winless Eagles was a sad case of "breaks" for the Husky cause. One Washington touchdown was nullified because of a fumble, and the final two Eagle TDs came on breaks.

The Eagles opened the scoring in the first minutes of the initial period, when Ron Barrett swept left end for 28 yards. The try for conversion was no good.

The first Eagle break came midway in the second period, when Quarterback Ruben Garcia fired a pass to End Doug Edwards. Two of the Huskies' safetymen had Edwards well covered and both deflected the elusive pigskin. Edwards grabbed it just before it hit the ground, then outraced the Malemutes' secondary. The play covered 50 yards. John Horrillo converted.

Break Number Two came in the third period when Mountain View End John Jiminez recovered a Washington fumble in the end zone for six points. Horrillo converted and the Eagles led 20-0.

The Huskies caught fire in the fourth quarter as their offensive began clicking. A 40-yard drive was climaxed when Alan Olk hit Left End Leon Mings with a hook pass. Mings then lateraled to Halfback Don Santos, who scampered into the end zone for the score. Olk added the extra marker.

The Orange and Black's worst break of the contest came midway in the fourth period, and it hurt the Huskies tremendously. The Huskies had driven 60 yards when Halfback Frank Velarde climaxed it by skirting left-end for six yards, but was hit hard in the end zone and fumbled, the Eagles recovering.

Tomorrow night's game will find the powerful Bells a heavy favorite to turn back the Huskies. The boys from Bellarmine boast a big line and fast backfield, paced by All Northern California back Lou Valli.

Kickoff is set for 8:00.

Highway Zoning

The Niles Chamber of Commerce this week declined to take a stand on proposed commercial zoning south of town along the Mission San Jose highway.

Mrs. Keith Comfort appeared at the chamber's Tuesday luncheon to deny a petition she presented asking for the zoning "means we intend to erect roadside stands."

But President C. W. Chrysler interposed:

"We believe that's a local affair out there.fl This chamber hasn't made a recommendation (to the Planning Commission) and you'll have a chance to be heard when there are public meetings on the issue."

Bearcats Rap Visitors, 4-2

By TONY ROGERS

By vitue of a 4-2 win over Jim Ellis Sport Shop last Sunday, the Centerville Bearcats this week are resting in first place in the East Oakland baseball loop.

Bob Lunsford pitched the 'Cats to a 6-hit win over the visitors, despite five errors committed by his teammates.

Lunsford spotted the Sport Shop two tallies in the first inning, then fanned eight batters over the rest of the route.

The Bearcats scored in their half of the first, then knotted the count in the fourth when Ed Romero singled, stole second and third and scored on Lunsford's infield hit. In the sixth, Ted Garcia came home on John Chacon's double (which probably should have been ruled a homer). Then Chacon came in when Lunsford poled a single into right field.

The locals completed the day's only double play in the eighth, Jacinto-to-Garcia-to-Roderick.

Next Sunday's league tilt will be against E. Berkovich & Sons junior aggregation. Time, 1:30 p.m.

NEWLYWEDS—Douglas Mayock of Irvington and his bride, the former Jane Russey, leave St. Paul's Cathedral in Los Angeles on October 25 after their marriage by the Rev. Arthur Freeman of Centerville. The new Mr. and Mrs. Mayock are both members of the San Francisco Opera Company, which was playing in the southern city. MISSION SEEN AS TAX-BLED 'BEDROOM' UNLESS LOT SIZES CURBED BY LAW

Does Mission San Jose want to be an exclusive residential community—and pay high taxes?

This question was asked Tuesday night as townsfolk met to discuss protective zoning for the town.

County Planners John Jay Thomas and Sanford Farness asked the question, and also delivered some thought - provoking predictions, such as:

1. Only by ordaining large building-lot sizes can Mission's future probable population be held to 15,000. Even so, this number will require at least five elementary schools costing over $2,000,000.

2. Unless future building is restricted to large lots—8000 and 10,000 square feet against the current 5000—Mission may grow into a tax-burdened "bedroom" town, since there is virtually no suitable location for tax-rich industry there.

Nettled by Farness' statement that he "would find it difficult to recommend" that his small electrical plant be zoned industrial, Francis Howe made the counter-proposal to go even further and create such large minimum lot-sizes that future building would be, in effect, prohibited. This, Howe said, at least would hold taxes down.

Farness came back, however, with the reminder that subdividers can now sell 50-foot lots in Mission. He pointed out that the 8000- and 10,000-square footers suggested by the planners would be double that.

Subdivider C. A. Russell interposed that he and his colleagues could provide larger lots "if the city-type streets, curbs, and sidewalks we're required to build under county ordinances" didn't run up tract costs.

Farness agreed, disclosing that the county has no provision for rural subdivisions, requiring instead that all furnish city-type improvements.

"The county has been assuming that folks who move out to the country still want city streets," Thomas added. "If this isn't so, the Supervisors might like to know."

The planners conferred with Roy Dean, chairman of Mission's zoning committee, and agreed to come out again for further discussion on December 7.

Thomas made another disclosure when he told the small audience in the local grammar school:

"A State Highway representative told me just this morning that the State is seriously studying the Mission Pass, and expects to build a 'cloverleaf' interchange at the intersection with Highway 9. He asked us to plan so as not to interfere with this project."

Thomas explained later that the State places a high priority on traffic movement from San Jose over this pass to Livermore. In view of this fact, he hinted further commercial development at the corner should be curbed.

Dean had suggested extension of the business district north to the Mill Creek bridge and south to Pine Street. But Farness said this would be "excessive" and reminded that "strip" development along highways is frowned upon by the State. However, he hinted another commercial zone "might be suitable."

This is the one asked by Russell on Irvington Road in his tract there.

FIVE IN RACE FOR P.T.A. FETE CROWN

Five local beauties are vying for the queen's crown in the Washington Union High School Parent-Teacher Association Carnival, slated for Friday evening, November 7.

This year's affair, under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Mamie Rogers and Bryce Phillips, will be held in the high school gymnasium in Centerville between the hours of 7 and 11 o'clock.

Some 15 concessions will be featured as well as dancing and refreshments. Highlight of the evening will be coronation of the Carnival Queen. The five contestants include Donna Bettencourt, Centerville; Isabel Hendrickson, Alvarado; Carolyn Nobles, Newark; Pat Owen, Centerville; and Kathy Oxborrow, Niles. The girl who sells the greatest number of contest tickets will reign over the evening's festivities.

Admission to the Carnival will be by Queen Contest ticket. These tickets are being sold by the candidates. Price is 10c.

The PTA Carnival has become an annual affair and serves as an evening of fun for the whole family. Proceeds make it possible for the PTA to offer scholarships to deserving graduates and to support the student loan funds.

Lifts for Leftovers

- Dress up leftover cake for dessert: Toast slices and serve with ice cream or dessert sauce. Add broken pieces of it to soft custard or cornstarch pudding; chill. Use cake crumbs with fruits to make fruit betties. Roll scoops of ice cream in toasted cake crumbs.
- Make toppings of leftover mashed potatoes: Sweet or white, they are delicious on casserole dishes. Just add a little milk to the cold potatoes, beat until fluffy; pile on top or in a border, then brown in oven. Good with chicken, turkey, combinations of meat or fish and vegetables.
- Leftover cooked bacon: Reheat in skillet until very crisp; drain on absorbent paper; chop fine. Add to French dressing; or make into hot vinegar dressing ... Sprinkle over baked vegetables with cheese. Sprinkle over broiled or baked fish. Add to candied sweet potatoes or to stuffed baked potatoes.

Members of the Merchants' Committee, headed by E. C. Parks, bought out the Niles Theater to provide entertainment, and staged a window-painting contest for cash prizes.

Other towns, including Decoto and Newark, also featured community Halloween parties designed to keep youngsters out of mischief.

Winners in the Niles costume contest were: First place, Cookie and Darlene Lange, dutch costumes, $5; second place, Kennth Springer, "The Thing," $3; third place, Janice Ermoian, harem girl, $2. Twelve additional $1 prizes also were awarded.

In the window-painting competition, winners were:

First place, Manuela Gonzales, Edgren's Garage window, $5; second place,Pa ul Turner and Billie Frick, Florence Cafe window, $3; third place, Eddie Rankin, DiGiulio Pontiac window, $2.

Funds for the Halloween program in Niles came from profits of last June's successful Essanay Days festival.

Acting President Allan Walton named Louis Cardoza, a member of Williams' committee, to the chairmanship, and askd Cardoza to set a date for the confab with Thomas.

READERS WRITE US

Editor, Sir:

Your October 8 issue contained an article about a clean-up project which was recently undertaken on the Niles-Hayward Highway. The extent of the litter which is scattered along the roadsides as brought to light through the effort of those who participated in this event is most alarming when it is multiplied by the 14,000 miles of state highways and 68,000 miles of county roads in California.

The cost of a continuing clean-up of this tremendous mileage of roads would represent a substantial portion of the funds which are made available for street and highway purposes. I am sure that the support which the highway program received from the press as well as the recent action of the legislature in speeding up the highway program did not contemplate any increase in expenditures for purposes other than highway improvements which are so sorely needed.

The only logical approach to the problem of roadside litter is an educational campaign that will eliminate the cause. The action which the public spirited group of citizens in the Niles area took in cleaning up the section of highway, and the publicity which your newspaper has given to this matter, is a step in the right direction and those who participated deserve the commendation of our entire community.

It is hoped that the good work will be continued and will broaden to a point where we can take pride in the roadside appearance in this state.

Yours very truly,
B. W. BOOKER
Asst. State Highway Engineer.

BENEFIT FOR INJURED SCOUTMASTER

With a goal of 2500 tickets to sell, friends and neighbors of William Maloney, injured Irvington Boy Scout leader, are staging a dance for his benefit Saturday night.

Maloney, an electrician, suffered severe head injuries six weeks ago when his car overturned at the Highway 9 underpass near Kimber Farms. Since then, he has lain unconscious in Highland Hospital. He has undergone one operation and is destined for another this week.

Nearly 2000 tickets have been sold for the dance, to be held at 9 p.m. in Newark Pavilion. Washington Township 20-30 Clubbers have sold more than 500.

Maloney's wife, Earlene, was secretary of the chamber last year. She also works at the local bank, in addition to caring for their two children.

FARMERS AT THE CROSSROADS

Among the big and pressing domestic problems confronting the present Administration, none is bigger or more pressing than the issue of agriculture. So delicate is the political balance that the Republicans could be overthrown if a satisfactory solution isn't found. Farm prices, which started declining during the latter part of the Truman regime, are still on the skids. Important segments of the farm vote are yelling for relief. Government price supports take care of a few "political" crops, including tobacco, rice, corn and cotton, but others, such as cattle, fruit and truck produce, aren't so favored. So we hear on all sides that disaster threatens the farmer. We know that if that is true, our entire economy is in danger.

Talking to agriculturalists during the past week, we got a widely diverging picture. Some predicted ruin, if the federal government doesn't guarantee prices for everything from cows to castor beans. Others called the calamity talk exaggerated, said the complainers are crying because 1953 just isn't as prosperous as some of the recent boom years, argued against further dependence on the government.

Price supports for "basic" edible commodities are a carryover from war years. Then the U.S. needed every possible ear of corn the farmer could squeeze out of the soil. Now the rest of the world still can't produce all the food it needs. Yet America, efficient and energetic, has an over-abundance. This depresses prices.

Secretary Benson has been attacked for suggesting that price supports should be removed. Yet they are costing taxpayers billions, are keeping us at an artificial level of production that could impoverish us in the midst of plenty. An immediate end to the whole system, in favor of straight supply-and-demand, might prove too great a shock for the farmer to stand. But a gradual tapering-off of price supports might do the trick. Perhaps it could take the form of a move toward something like the marketing-agreement system which has proved successful in so many of the fruit and vegetable crops. Marketing agreements are run by the farmers themselves, help keep prices healthy, production at a normal, profitable level. There may be reasons why they shouldn't be applied to ease the current farm problem, but we don't know about that.

We do know this: if the farmer, that onetime rugged independent, wants to make the break from government control (and of course, government guarantees) and to return to a greater degree of "say" over his own destiny, now is the time for him to decide.

NEVER!

Arguments from our British friends that Red China ought to be admitted to the United Nations strike a peculiarly hollow note in the light of recent disclosures about Red Chinese atrocities against American GIs.

The British say it is "realistic" to recognize Mao's minions as the true rulers of China, and to grant them a seat among their recent antagonists.

We say it would be the foulest kind of betrayal to sit down as equals with the representatives of a power which butchered and tortured our sons and brothers. Better to quit the UN forever than to appease these cold-blooded killers.

SOME FRIENDS OF YOURS . . .

Ever so often we feel compelled to comment on the big-heatedness of some individual or group. So take note of the Halloween festivals staged in several of our Township communities for the benefit of children and homeowners.

In Niles, the guiding force was the Merchants' Committee, which in the past year put on a Christmas carol party and the wonderful Essanay Day. Last Saturday the committee organized a window-painting contest, a parade, and bought out the local theater for a free show so the kiddies would have something else to do besides throw tomatoes on Halloween.

It paid off. Mothers didn't have to worry this year that Junior would wind up in the sheriff's custody. Householders were relieved of most of their "trick-or-treat" chores. Best of all, the kids had a real ball! More power to Niles, a city that knows how! And more power to its merchants—more power and more patronage from those who benefit so often from the goodwill of these hometown businessmen.

SUZY SEZ...

After waiting for what seemed hours for a store's receipts to be deposited at a Township bank, I concluded that each bank should have a commercial window, where you could know at a glance that the man in front of you probably will have a great deal of business to transact.

* * * *

A Centerville housewife was so busy freezing vegetables and desserts the other day that she used up every bit of food in the house, and the whole family had to go out to dinner!

* * * *

Going from one eating spot to another in the Township, I notice that the places where the waitress wears a hair-net leaves me with a better impression of the place.

* * * *

Was there any significance in the fact that the county tax assessors were in the Township the day before the witches and goblins arrived?

* * * *

Speaking of witches, the costumes have changed considerably from my youth when every other child was a witch, ghost, or perhaps a gypsy, where now they run to space men and cowgirls.

* * * *

On a Township road, I saw a colorful auto, 25 years old at least, and I was surprised to see it was not driven by a teen-ager, but by the original owner ,who says they are growing old together.

* * * *

Wasn't the cooking school instructive? From the number of cakes baked by teen-agers, the brides of the future will at least be able to serve tasty desserts, even if they burn the potatoes.

* * * *

Have you noticed that it is easy to be patient with some one bigger, or more important than yourself?

So long . . .
